Social Media Awareness for Parents

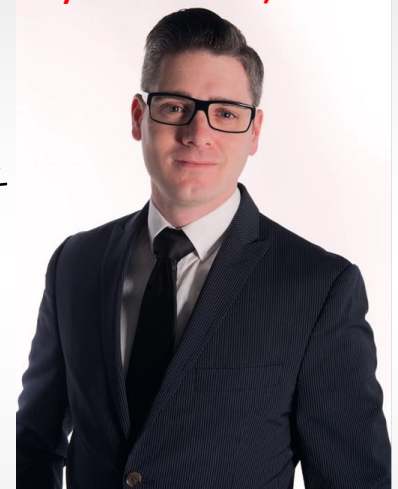

By: Jesse Miller

January 12, 2017

Key City Theatre—6:30 p.m.

(Please bring a non-perishable food item for the Cranbrook Food Bank as your admission)

Jesse Miller (MA PgDip) is a respected and highly sought after national speaker on the topics of social media awareness, social networking behaviour, and online content evaluation. Jesse is renowned for proactively examining the challenges of social media, addressing the realities behind the concerns around mobile communications, and prompting dialogue that reflects the issues seen with new media influences. His presentation provides participants with the tools needed to better equip themselves for social media communications, prompts reflection on the technology influences, and highlights developing and current trends in social media use within Canada.

Social Media and Mobile Technology has changed the way children communicate, participate with peers, connect with friends, and how they source entertainment media. This session will focus on learning more about digital citizenship, media literacy, informed and safe social media use, and parent participation.
