Social Emotional Learning

Student's mental health and well-being is top of mind of our staff. Social-Emotional Learning is part of our school's growth plan. What is Social Emotional Learning?

"Social –Emotional learning (or SEL) is sometimes called emotional intelligence or people skills. SEL helps people build their empathy and relationship skills and manage big emotions. Having strong social-emotional skills help kids and their grown-ups communicate better, manage their conflicts and solve problems together."

Here is a link to some podcasts for kids to and learn about some of these skills.

Student Belongings

There are still a few items here at the school. If you would like to pick them up, please email us and we'll make arrangements. If you have received belongings that don't belong to you, please let us know that too. Thank you.

Come Read with Me

Columbia Basin Alliance for Literacy has a workshop to support parents and caregivers for students in grades 1-3. Please see the attached poster for more information.

Learning from Home

If you would like photos of your child's home learning to be showcased in the newsletter and / or on the new SD5 Facebook page, please send them to tmres.mailing@sd5.bc.ca.

Learning at Home:

Thanks to the Meulenbelds for showing us what they've been working on. "We've been at it since spring break. Jonas' school project will also involve researching solar power for the tree for which we will actually implement. We got a quote for regular power and will compare the pros and cons."

Some of our students have started their home gardens. Thank you for the pictures! I can't wait to see your gardens grow!
